Features

The mixed-use residential and commercial building comprises a front building, a side wing and a rear building. It was constructed around 1900 and is presented today in a well-maintained condition. Typical period features lend the ensemble a special charm.

At recent owners' meetings, the following renovation measures were resolved: refurbishment of the façade and windows. A special levy was agreed for this purpose, which will be borne by the current owner.

Description

This charming 2-room maisonette apartment is situated in the quiet side wing of a well-maintained period building dating from 1900. The property extends over the ground floor and first floor of the five-storey building and comprises a living area of approximately 64 square metres.

The apartment is set in a protected position at the rear of the building, creating a particularly peaceful living atmosphere. Both floors are accessible via two separate entrances – a practical advantage offering flexible usage options.

The property underwent a comprehensive renovation in 2009. The apartment is equipped with a central heating system.

The apartment is currently still let and generates a monthly rental income of €595.50 including service charges (€425.50 net cold rent). However, the tenants have already found a new home and will be moving out shortly. Service charges currently amount to €333/month, of which approximately €247.32 is apportionable to the tenant.
